Ministry approves Health Board resolution

by Jerry Grozelle

Response from the Ministry of Health to the Acting Health Board's resolution regarding location of the acute care beds and other health care requirements in Haliburton County has been favourable.

A letter to board chair Stuart Baker from ministry officials states: "We are pleased with the motion approved by the board on October 12, 1994 to consolidate the inpatient acute care beds at the Haliburton Hospital, along with the previously approved 30 long term care beds. We also note that in addition to the decision to consolidate the inpatient beds, subsequent board motions highlight the board's current vision for urgent care and emergency services attached to Hyland Crest.

"While the ministry supports this motion in principle, and the planning for residents of the Minden area, we see the next challenge for the board as you continue to plan will be to define, based on the need for services and within current funding allocations, the specific programmatic requirements for Haliburton County. This may include the provision for outpatient and adult day care programs, as you have indicated," the letter continued.

Board member Lisa Mercer, expressed some concern that the ministry may have separated the parts of the motion and focused on the location of the acute care beds rather than the entire contents of the resolution as it was submitted.

Ministry officials suggested that the board consider setting up some sub-committees of both board and community members to facilitate the planning process.

Victoria-Haliburton MPP Chris Hodgson was a guest at the meeting. He broke the news about the ministry's support of the resolution. Hodgson was involved on earlier health care related committees and he congratulated the board and thanked the members for their efforts.

Hodgson suggested that it will be a challenge for the board to "prove the needs of the community" to the ministry. He added that the board is going to have to reassure the people of Minden and area that they are not going to lose their medical services. The latter point will be imperative from a fund-raising perspective. People will have to be convinced that their donations are going toward meaningful facilities in Minden.

"The key is to move ahead while the funding is available," Hodgson said.

The ministry also stated in its correspondence to the board that the wheels have been set in motion to process the funding to hire an executive director to administrate the county's health care system.

That will be the next big step in the board's mandate.

Advertising for the position had been expected to be placed by this time, but some legal matters have to be settled before that can be done. The board is confident that the position will be filled by the spring of 1995.

Frank Lussing of St. Joseph's Hospital and Health Centre attended the board meeting to explain the details of the three-week closures of the Haliburton and Minden hospitals' inpatient beds.

He said that the savings would be al-

Public favours single MSA board for four counties

by Jerry Grozelle

A public consultation session regarding the Multi-Service Agency proposals was held last week at Hyland Crest Home for the Aged in Minden. The purpose of the meeting was to present two options that have been drafted in anticipation of the passing of Bill 173. The Bill is designed to amalgamate a number of existing agencies that provide services to seniors and persons with disabilities into one agency. The premise is to streamline the services and provide "one stop" access to the consumers for a wide range of services, at the same time, reducing administration costs.

The consultations have been organized by the Long Term Care (LTC) committee, which is a sub-committee of the District Health Council (DHC).

Planning for the MSA is in the preliminary stages. The consultation meetings throughout the Haliburton, Kawartha and Pine Ridge District Health Council area are designed to determine how the public prefers to see the MSA administered.

The two options presented are:

A) One board of directors for each of the four counties, or

B) One board of directors to govern all four of the counties within the council's jurisdiction.

Advantages and disadvantages for each option were presented, as the committee sees them. Committee chairperson Lynda Easton pointed out that there may be other viable options that the committee hasn't thought of.

"We're not experts," she said. "We look forward to your input."

The committee has been studying such areas as population changes, existing services and patterns of services, implications of government policy and changes affecting the people of the district and ways of configuring the MSA.

After outlining the pros and cons of both options, the audience was asked to form four groups for round-table discussions.

During the round-table discussions, one group suggested two boards, one each for Victoria and Haliburton counties and one for Peterborough and Northumberland.

The majority of the people in attendance favoured one board for the four counties. The advantage of shared administrative costs and the elimination of duplication of services were the major factors that influenced most people.

"It would be more cost effective and efficient with one board for the four counties," was one comment.

There was some concern expressed by one person that one board for the four counties might cause potential donors to "lose heart" because their donations wouldn't be seen as going directly to their own community.

A suggestion that politicians should volunteer their time to help realize some savings, drew a chorus of laughter from the audience.

The committee assured the audience that all the services which now exist, will continue to operate. However, the number of boards of directors and administration are likely to decrease as agencies are integrated. Volunteers and

CHACE Mobile Outreach Program is officially open for business

By Andrew Milne

The CHACE Mobile Family Outreach Program celebrated its official opening November 10, 1994 in Wilberforce.

The program, which has actually been in operation since July 1994, provides educational activities, crafts, parenting information and interaction for children (from birth to six years) and their parents in communities around the county.

It currently makes stops in Cardiff, Dorset, Eagle Lake, Fort Irwin, Lochlin, Gooderham, Haliburton, Harcourt, Minden, Moore Falls, Stanhope, West Guilford, and Wilberforce.

Sue Valm is executive director of CHACE Incorporated (County of Haliburton Agency for Child Enrichment). She says a program like this is especially valuable in areas like Haliburton County.

Valm says the unit was funded through the Brighter Futures program organized under the Mulroney government's restructuring of the baby bonus. That program, she explains, was intended to redirect federal financing to the families that need it most, and, she says, the program is a good way to do that.

Says Valm, "The very nature of the makeup of our county is such that isolation and high unemployment and other factors really have an effect on our families, so this is a really good example of that money being used where it's needed the most."

And, says Valm, the proof that it was needed here is in the attendance.

"We knew it all along," she says. "We knew it statistically. We knew it from people coming into the centre. And we were reminded of just how much families need it when the program started running. We've received some of the most incredible support from families who are really thankful to have it in their community. And when we hear that, that's when we really remember why we need it."

"The average attendance right now is about 20 a stop," she says. "And that's excellent for a brand new program. It's incredible for a new program."

Rosemary Jung, coordinator of the program, is equally enthusiastic.

Says Jung, "The response has been wonderful. The moms have been extremely appreciative."

And Jung says she has already seen a positive response from the children who attend.

Says Jung, "We've seen a lot of growth — individual growth — children learning in teams, accepting structure. Some of them, when they first come, they have no sense of a structured program — of correction or instruction."

The mobile is sponsored by SIRCH (Support Initiatives for Residents of the County of Haliburton) and run by CHACE. For more information on the Mobile Outreach Program, and for its itinerary, call CHACE at 457-2989.

Misty Bennett joins The Times staff as High School reporter

A love of the English language has prompted 18-year-old Misty Bennett of Minden to take the plunge into journalism, at least for the current school year. Bennett will be the High School reporter for The Times for 1994-95. She is an OAC (Ontario Academic Credit, formerly known as Grade 13) student at Haliburton Highlands Secondary School.

"I haven't really decided what I want to do yet," she admits, adding that journalism appeals to her as a potential career choice.

If she enjoys writing high school news stories as much as she anticipates, Bennett says she will apply for the journalism course at Ryerson Polytechnical University in Toronto.

Bennett's first experience with serious interviewing, research and writing was this past spring while she was helping with the ELM (Energy, Lifestyle and Matter) program. The program was designed for OAC students at HHSS to teach Grade 5 and 6 pupils from Gooderham some fundamentals about the relationship of nature and the environment. It was several months in the development stages and Bennett was involved in the research and writing part of the program. She says she found it a very enjoyable experience.

Her style and flair for writing during that project impressed Bennett's biology teacher, Dave Mowat, who encouraged her to think seriously about exploring the possibility of a journalism career.

Although she is several months away from making any kind of decision regarding journalism, she says the thought of writing for a magazine is very appealing.

She will be exploring all aspects of high school life in her writing. Bennett's first story appears on page 5 of this issue of The Times.

most entirely in wages during the three-week bed closure period. Wages are the largest single operating expense.

Lussing said that bed closures are not unprecedented and that the local situation is not unique. He said this measure has been used successfully at other hospitals.

The timing of the closings has been chosen to correspond with traditional slow periods at both the Minden and Haliburton hospitals. The time around Christmas is actually a slower period than March, but St. Joseph's officials felt that there wasn't time to implement the bed closings this year. Negotiations with hospital employees to arrange time off, holidays or a lay-off will be necessary.

"We looked at the options very seriously," Lussing said.

The subject of replacements for the two people who resigned from the board was briefly discussed. Board chair Stuart Baker said that he sees two options. The first is to operate as a 12-person board for the time being, keeping the thought in mind that there may be community groups that could be represented at a future date. The other option would be to fill the two vacancies as soon as possible. Contacting those who had previously applied for a seat on the board was one alternative that was presented.

Ted Wilkes suggested that someone from a local cottagers' association might be a wise choice as a board member.

Any decision regarding replacements on the board has been deferred to the December meeting.

Robertson receives top Legion honour

Mel Robertson of Minden has been awarded the highest honour an individual can receive from the Royal Canadian Legion. Robertson was presented with the Legion Meritorious Service Medal (LMSM) during a special ceremony at the Minden branch recently.

Melvin Edward Robertson joined the Royal Canadian Navy in 1943 and was discharged in October of 1945. He became a member of the Royal Canadian Legion in 1974 and received his Life Membership from Branch 129 (Haliburton) in 1985.

A dedicated Legion member, Robertson has served on the executive at Branch, Zone and District levels. Among the positions he has held are: President of the Haliburton branch from 1977 to 1980; Chairman of Zone Leadership and Planning from 1979 to 1988; Zone Commander F4 from 1984 to 1986; Director Charitable Foundation from 1989 to 1991; Chairman District Seniors from 1991 to 1993; Executive of Branch 636 from 1991 to 1993.

In 1982, Robertson was instrumental in obtaining the land on which the County Cairn is situated in Minden, near the elementary school. This memorial is to those people from Haliburton County who paid the supreme sacrifice. On Remembrance Day children from the school participate in the ceremonies at the Cairn.

Robertson's dedication to the Cairn project is demonstrated by the effort he put forth to collect stones from all parts of the county (one for each person named on the memorial) to be incorporated into the construction of the Cairn.

It is because of Mel Robertson's dedication and effort that there is a Legion branch in Minden. In 1986, he recognized a need for a Minden branch and started proceedings to have one formed. He spent countless hours making arrangements for meeting sites, organizing a committee and contacting District Officers. With his expertise and leadership qualities, he and the committee were successful in attracting a membership of 30 veterans. Robertson's work culminated with the granting of the Minden Charter in September of 1987.

Working for veterans and seniors remains a priority for Robertson. He is involved in delivering Meals On Wheels and transporting seniors to hospital and other appointments.

Through Robertson's continuing efforts, and with the financial co-operation of Branch 636 and the Ladies Auxiliary, the Minden Hospital was the recipient of a heart defibrillator.

Robertson is an active member of his church and a respected member of the community.

Minden businessman to donate percentage of profits to hospital

by Andrew Milne

A Minden businessman says he feels strongly enough about the importance of having a hospital in Minden that he's donating five percent of his profits to it.

Richard Milewski runs the European Bakery, on the main street in Minden. He has pledged to donate five percent of his gross profit to the Minden hospital building fund.

Milewski says he is concerned about the recent decision of the acting health services board, which has been engaged in deliberations on the allocation of acute care beds for the county.

The board passed a motion October 12 that 15 to 19 acute care beds be consolidated at the Haliburton hospital and that five to seven observation beds be added to Minden's Hyland Crest facility.

Observation beds are used only for stabilization in cases of life threatening injuries and disease. Patients requiring further treatment would have to be transferred to another facility — via ambulance or helicopter, in cases in which time is critical.

The current Minden hospital, near the highway, will probably eventually be phased out, in favour of moving its facilities in with the observation beds at Hyland Crest.

"When that happens," says Milewski, "tell me what is going to happen to Minden. Sixty percent of our population is older people, right? And they support the town, right? And we have businesses that struggle through the winter, right?"

"And if they eliminate that hospital," he continues, "people are going to look at it and think there really aren't the facilities for them to stay here. So what they're going to do is they're going to go somewhere where they can survive."

Milewski also says he feels Minden never had a chance at getting the acute care beds.

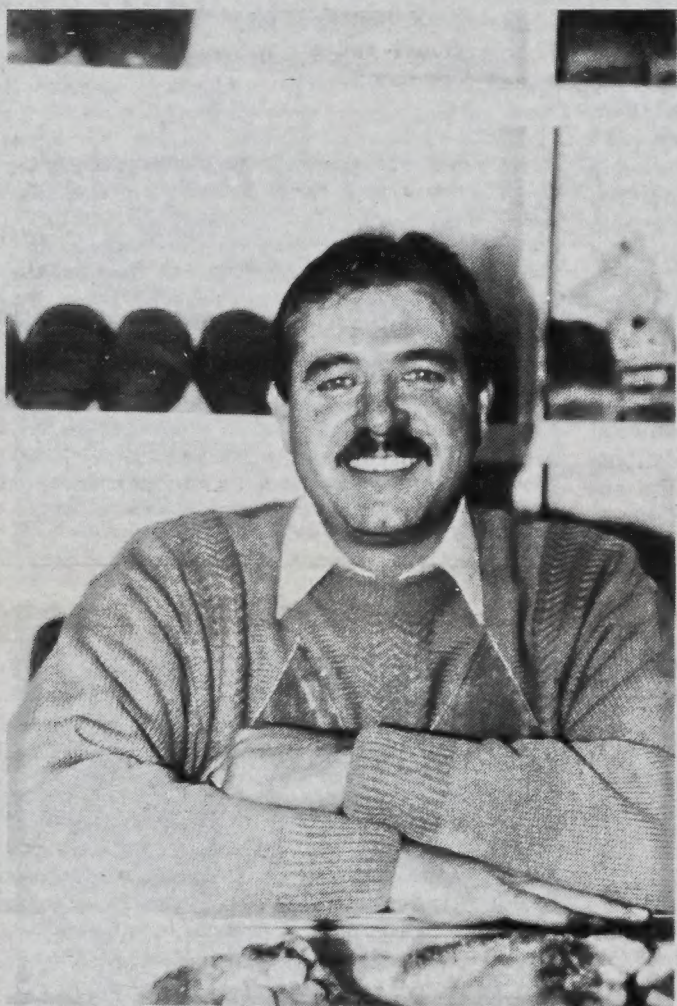

"They're debating, debating, and debating," he says, "and nothing really is happening. For two or three years now, it's still Haliburton wants their site, and Minden wants their site. But if you look at the council, 70 percent of the council is from Haliburton. So there's no way that Minden is going to get it."

He says he hopes by his action to rally additional support for better hospital care in Minden.

"My business is a new business," he says. "We just opened maybe three months ago. Five percent is a lot of money for a new business. And this is gross profit, not net profit. So that's a lot of money. If I'm going to put that up, maybe other businesses will follow."

"And maybe they will say I'm just trying to create more business for myself," he continues. "And maybe that is true. But the more business I do the more will go to the hospital."

"My idea is to get these people together. This could be the first step."

Richard Milewski of R&W European Bakery. Milewski says he plans to put labels on his products that say how much of their purchase price will go to the hospital.

Rehearsing: Melissa Stephens (seated at the keyboard) leads some of the cast and crew through a rehearsal session in preparation for this Friday's opening of Brigadoon. Cast and crew members who were on hand for the rehearsal were (l to r): Byrn Gray, Rachel Levis, Loreena Rogers, Shaun Turner, Sarah Levis, Keith MacKenzie, Breanne Mansfield, Amy Rosenberg and Cheri Rivard. Absent: Susan Carr and Luke Talaba.

Excitement builds as opening of Brigadoon approaches

by Misty Bennett

Eleven high school students are feeling the excitement rising as Highland's Little Theatre prepares for its latest presentation, Brigadoon. These students are currently working, not just as actors, but behind the scenes as well.

Brigadoon is a musical play about a town that appears every 100 years. The production tells the story of the people who live in the fictional town of Brigadoon.

Shaun Turner is a grade 12 student who plays the role of Harry Beaton, a man who hates everything about the town.

He says: "I enjoy my part because I get to act malicious."

His character's hate for Brigadoon stems from the fact that the woman he loves is marrying someone else. Turner admits he is a little nervous about his performance as it will be his first time ever on stage.

"I'm incredibly nervous when I think about it," admits Byrn Gray, another student who is taking on a main part in the play. "But I know I'll be okay when I get up there."

Gray has had stage experience, but this is his first time with the Highland's Little Theatre and the first time he's had a singing part.

As members of the chorus, sisters Rachel and Sarah Levis are finding that their strictly singing parts take a little of the pressure off them and place it more on the people who have actual lines to memorize.

Sarah says it is difficult to fit in homework with the rehearsal schedule. However, both girls admit that they are enjoying the experience.

Cheri Rivard, who plays Maggie Anderson, has an interesting role.

"As a dancer, I act, but I don't talk," she said. Rivard isn't the least bit nervous about the production; as a competitive highland dancer, she is accustomed to the pressure of being on stage.

Keith MacKenzie is taking part in a different way -- helping backstage with lighting. He says he hopes to pursue technical theatre production in university. He considers this an excellent opportunity to practice his skills.

Brigadoon opens this coming Friday night, November 18 and it looks like a show you will not want to miss.

Women ride for charity

by Andrew Milne

Women from across Canada and the northern United States will take part in a 150-200 km snowmobile ride this coming February to raise money for the Easter Seals.

The ride — which takes place February 17-19, 1995 — is held by Women on Snow, an organization originating in the U.S. A delegation from the Haliburton area competed for and won the privilege of running the annual event, at a conference they attended last February.

Prior to this year, the Canadian event had been held in Sudbury, but, says Marj Kennedy, president of the newly minted local chapter, the organizers felt that they needed a change of venue. So a number of areas were called upon to make presentations, and it was the Haliburton and North Bay delegations that got the nod.

The event will be held in Haliburton for the next three years, and in North Bay for three years after that.

Kennedy was enthusiastic about the experience of the ride, in which only women participate. Says Kennedy, "a lot of the women go away from this and feel they have definitely made a change in their riding. They feel more secure. They feel more confident."

And Cathy Stephens, a resident of Carnarvon and member of the local committee organizing the ride, concurs. She has been on one of the Sudbury rides. Says Stephens, "It was super. There were women from the ages of 19 to 65, and everybody just gets together and has a really good time."

The Haliburton group has already arranged for commercial sponsorship — Choko Motor Sports of Stouffville is their main sponsor, and Yamaha, Polaris, Bombardier and Arctic Cat will also be contributing.

The event itself is an organized ride, says Kennedy, of six groups of 18 women who will be collecting pledges to raise the money for the Easter Seals. The local committee has already sent out 285 applications to people likely to be interested in participating, and hopes to attract women from across Ontario and Quebec, as well as from the northern United States.

The Easter Seals is a charitable organization that provides support and resources for children with disabilities as well as for their parents and guardians.

Marg Gow, regional development manager for the Easter Seals Campaign is seen here at a recent meeting of the committee organizing the upcoming Women on Snow ride.

CHACE Volunteer Bursary awarded to Vicki Luke

Vicki Luke of Minden is the 1993-94 recipient of the SIRCH Volunteer Bursary. The $200 bursary is awarded to the individual who has completed secondary or post secondary education and has volunteered his or her time with one of the volunteer programs under the SIRCH umbrella.

Vicki Luke is the daughter of Sharon and Rob Luke of Minden. After moving to Minden in 1990, Vicki attended Haliburton Highlands Secondary School and she is currently enrolled in the Office Administration Program at Durham College in Oshawa.

During the fall and winter of 1993-94, she took the Crisis Assistance Training course and then became a volunteer with this program until she left for college in September.

The staff and board of directors of SIRCH feel it is important to recognize the vital contribution students can and do make to families and children in Haliburton County.

Vicki Luke is congratulated for her dedication and support of the Crisis Assistance Program and to the children and families of the county.

staff will continue to do their jobs, including home visits to provide house-keeping, nursing care and other services.

Once the MSA is established, users of the services under the MSA umbrella will be able to visit or telephone one location to co-ordinate their assistance requirements. The present systems often require visits or telephone calls to numerous agencies.

A schedule for implementing the MSA system has been drafted. The first step was for the Long Term Care committees to design a model or models of an MSA. That step has been completed.

Step two was to present the models for public consultation. Meetings in Haliburton and Minden last week accomplished that objective.

The next step is to revise and refine the model, with consideration of the public input. That is scheduled for completion by January of 1995.

Step four will be to present the revised model of the MSA to the District Health Council, some time in January or February, for its approval.

Ministry of Health approval (the final step) is expected in March or April of 1995.

Those who attended the meetings in Haliburton and Minden were asked to fill out an evaluation form regarding the presentation on the MSA models. The committee admitted that there was a lot of information to absorb in one session, but the consensus was that the meetings were productive and reflective of the wishes of the people of Haliburton County.

Is there a health care silver lining?

Ontario Health Minister Ruth Grier announced recently that former deputy minister Graham Scott has been appointed as an independent fact-finder to examine the problems associated with small hospitals in Ontario.

Provision of medical services, including coverage by doctors of emergency departments, will be examined. Scott is expected to submit his final report in February 1995. The cost of conducting this fact-finding mission will be covered by the ministry.

"Our government is committed to ensuring that small and rural communities in Ontario have timely access to the medical care they need, including emergency care," Grier proclaimed. "We also want doctors in these communities to be paid fairly for emergency services."

"In our continuing effort to find the best solution for these communities, the ministry, the Ontario Medical Association and the Ontario Hospital Association have agreed that Mr. Scott should look at this issue and make recommendations," Grier added.

Do any small hospitals in any small communities come immediately to mind?

With the two smallest hospitals in the province, the Minden and Haliburton facilities should qualify as case-study material. Graham Scott should be invited to Haliburton County to examine some real problems. Volumes of information could be gleaned from any number of local groups which have been intimately involved with the daunting task of preserving and enhancing medical services across the county.

Perhaps Mr. Scott should be invited to meetings of the Acting Health Services Board to observe first hand the problems with which this board has been wrestling. He could get a feel for the frustrations of dealing with directives from Ruth Grier's ministry. It is unfortunate that he wasn't present when Bev MacDuff and Gord Monk tendered their resignations from the board. He could have gotten an understanding of what the volunteers on this board have to endure in the name of community service.

If the emergency care cloud that has hovered over Haliburton County for so long has a silver lining, maybe this is it.

Perhaps Acting Health Board officials should be burning up the phone lines to Graham Scott's office offering him co-operation and information and inviting him to the county to sit in on a meeting.

If the Ministry of Health is sincerely interested in learning about the problems associated with providing health care services in small communities, Haliburton County would be an excellent place to be educated on the subject.

Swans on Kushog Lake "a wondrous sight"

Editor:

Enclosed is a picture of a white swan seen on Kushog Lake on October 2nd. My Daughter Debbie spotted it early in the morning and followed it in her canoe to get the pictures. It didn't seem to be too bothered by her presence.

Being fairly new to the lake (two years) I'm not sure if this is a common sight. In talking to some people who have been on the lake for many years, they say they have never seen one on our lake before.

Maybe you, or some of your readers, could shed some light on this occurrence. Are they common in the area? Do they breed in the Haliburton area? Do they migrate?

Whatever the answers, it was a wondrous sight.

Thanks,

Bill Dalton
Kushog Lake

Editor's note:

The swans are probably trumpeters, and part of the pilot project sponsored by the Ontario Federation of Anglers and Hunters to reintroduce trumpeter swans to Ontario. Trumpeters do migrate, and breed in marshland areas. None of the reintroduced birds have been known to breed in the Haliburton area yet, probably due to the lack of suitable marshlands.

Candidate disappointed

Editor:

I am writing to advise you that I was disappointed with the coverage the candidates running for Lutterworth Council received in your article. I was under the understanding the article was to make the voting public more informed on the candidates in their ridings.

The reeve (acclaimed) received a half page on county issues and less than one quarter page was dedicated to the four candidates running for councillor. I feel that the intention of this article has not been met. I, for one, sent The Times my personal background and candidacy platform, of which very little of this information was used in my four-sentence coverage.

I feel that you owe it to the people of Lutterworth Township (subscribers and advertisers) a more in-depth coverage next time round.

Sincerely,

Paul L. Pilon

When a honeymoon is no honeymoon...

Niagara Falls. The second greatest disappointment for every American bride.

— Oscar Wilde

Old Oscar was a grouch. Everyone knows that the honeymoon is a magical time. He hasn't yet had the pleasure of walking into a faceful of wet pantyhose on the shower curtain; she doesn't yet know that this slob she married leaves enough whiskers in the sink to stuff a mattress.

On the honeymoon, everything is perfect.

That's the way it's supposed to work out. Doesn't always.

Last year Thrifty Car Rental got a great idea: why not sponsor a "Honeymoon Disasters" contest — give customers a chance to share their tales of newlywed bliss gone wrong?

So they did. Thrifty even offered a first prize package that included a second honeymoon to the city of the winners' choice, free airfare, free accommodation...

And of course a free car rental, courtesy of Thrifty.

Turns out a lot of people have had bum honeymoons. One of the first entries Thrifty received came from a Doctor Jacqueline Hott of Great Neck, NY. Jacqueline's brand new mother-in-law chose the period of the newlyweds' honeymoon to have some surgery done. This meant that Jacqueline and her new groom had to babysit the groom's nine-year-old brother plus the family dog, name of Poopsie.

Poopsie took to the new member of the family instantly.

And seriously. "Poopsie decided he loved me more than my husband did, and didn't allow us to sit next to each other in the car," says Jacqueline. "And as for the bed..."

No amorous mutts spoiled the wedding night of Michael J. Gallen of San Diego, California. Only problem was the bridal chamber was a little bright. Mike's new wife took care of that by artfully draping her negligee over the lampshade.

What with one thing and another, Mike and the Missus didn't notice the fire until it was burning quite briskly. Which is how they came to be running down the hall naked on their wedding night.

Closer to home there was the newlywed nightmare of Thomas Vecchione, who took his new bride rafting in the Grand Canyon. Tom's wife, who sounds higher strung than Steffie Graf's tennis racket, got nited' in a small impromptu ceremony on the beach. They should be fine from here on in as long as Mrs. Vecchione doesn't hit a crisis.

Like running out of milk or something.

Ah, but all honeymoon experiences pale beside that of David and Jamie Barber of Escondido, California.

They might have known it was going to get rough when the septic line ruptured right beside the buffet table at their outdoor wedding ceremony. They persisted, got hitched while the guests gagged and retched, and then the Barbers hied off to honeymoon in San Francisco.

Where they ran into a riot by radical activists. To cheer up his wife, David ordered 96 long-stem American Beauties and had them delivered to their hotel room while they were out.

The hotel maid promptly threw the flowers out.

On the last day of their honeymoon David broke his video camera and cut his wrist badly enough to require stitches. He sat bleeding quietly in a hospi-outraged when Tom grabbed the last chocolate bonbon. Wrenching the wedding band from her finger she shrieked "This marriage will never work!" — and fired it into the night. And elderly fellow rafter found the ring wedged in a crevice. "I can always find a wedding ring," he explained.

"I've had to find my wife's six or seven times, just like this."

Kawartha High School Hockey League

Redmen open season with 8-2 victory over Lakefield

by Jerry Grozelle

The season got off to an exciting start for the HHSS Redmen hockey team. The Redmen played host to the Lakefield Tigers on November 8 at the Dysart Community Centre, skating to an 8-2 victory in the Kawartha High School Hockey League game.

"It was a good effort," said Redmen coach Ron Yake. "The team played well defensively. It was a good, solid game."

Jason Stamp set the tone of the game midway through the first period when he took the puck inside his own blue line, weaved his way through the Lakefield team and scored while the Redmen were short-handed. Jonathan Bishop and Matt Galbraith assisted.

With 3:45 left in the opening frame, Tim Stouffer made it 2-0 when his shot from the top of the faceoff circle to the left of Lakefield netminder Ritchie Gordon found the mark. Jeff Wray set that one up.

Lakefield got back in the game with a goal three seconds before the period ended, cutting Haliburton's lead to 2-1.

The second period wasn't quite two and a half minutes old when Mark Morissette centered the puck out from the corner to Bishop, who one-timed it past Gordon for a 3-1 Haliburton lead.

Three minutes later, Josh Burk started a flurry of scoring that saw three goals added to the Haliburton tally in a span of a minute and 40 seconds. Burk cut across in front of the Lakefield net and beat the goalie with a backhand. Bishop and Stamp assisted. Forty-three seconds later, the Redmen were in front by a 5-1 margin when a Haliburton rush saw Stamp convert a three-way passing play from Bishop and Galbraith. At the seven minute mark, Jackie Morrison let a shot go from just inside the Lakefield blue line that bulged the twine. That power play goal was set up by Wray and Curtis Fielding.

The Tigers got a goal 38 seconds later that Redmen goalie Justin Rowden protested in vain. The Lakefield forward was knocked down in the crease and he got his stick on the puck and scooped it in from the prone position. With 19 seconds left in the second period, Mark Morissette backhanded the puck into the open side to end the frame with a 7-2 Haliburton lead. Morrison drew an assist on that goal.

He scores! HHSS Redmen forward Jason Stamp (8) scores the first goal of regular season play against the Lakefield Tigers in the season opener of the Kawartha High School Hockey League on November 8 in Haliburton. The Redmen defeated the Tigers by an 8-2 score in front of a large hometown crowd at the Dysart Community Centre.

A single marker was scored in the third. Andrew McKelvey got a pass across to Stouffer at the point. His shot went right along the ice and into the Tigers' cage.

Coach Yake was pleased with the win.

"I was most impressed with the effort," he said, adding, "but we're going to have to stay away from the retaliatory penalties."

The Redmen will go to Peterborough tomorrow (Tuesday) to play the TASS Griffins. The next home game will be Wednesday, November 16 against the Adam Scott Lions of Peterborough.

A benefit hockey game against the Minden OPP is planned for Saturday, November 19 at the Minden Arena. Game time will be 8 p.m. Proceeds will go to Ontario Students Against Impaired Driving (OSAID).

Correction

A computer glitch last week left a paragraph in the novice B hockey story unfinished. It should have read as follows:

Ryan Cole earned the shutout, in the Minden net. Chad Carpenter, Daryl Arbour and Brandon Davidson made Cole's job easier by keeping the opposition bottled up in its own end for much of the game. Darrin Brown proved to be a thorn in Bobcaygeon's side throughout the game. He intercepted passes and his aggressive checking kept the opposition players on their toes.

Minden midget As score 22 goals in three games

by Jerry Grozelle

Three more wins were added to the Minden midget A Monarchs record from October 29 to November 6. In those three games, the Monarchs scored a total of 22 goals, allowing the opposition five replies.

Two of those wins were over Bobcaygeon. The first was a 9-2 romp over 'Caygeon on October 29 at the Minden Community Centre.

The Monarchs opened up a 4-1 lead in the first period and extended the advantage to 8-1 by the end of the second frame. Each team scored once in the third.

Dave Raback and Jeff Wray scored two goals each for Minden, with singles going to Scott Bailey, Dennis Woods, Andy Wilbee, Jackie Morrison and Curtis Reynolds. Jon Hebert picked up three assists; Woods and Chris Fitzell had two apiece; and single helpers went to Chris Eskelin, Wray and Reynolds.

The next game was in Bobcaygeon on November 5 and the Monarchs came home with an 8-3 victory.

Bobcaygeon remained competitive for the first period, which ended in a 1-1 draw. Jackie Morrison was the Minden sniper on an unassisted effort.

The Monarchs gathered momentum in the middle frame, pulling ahead 5-1 with four unanswered goals. Wray and Woods led the charge with two goals apiece. Woods picked up an assist on one of Wray's goals and Eskelin assisted on a Woods goal.

Minden added three more to the visitors' side of the scoreboard in the third, with two replies from Bobcaygeon.

Curtis Fielding, Fitzell and Morrison were the third-period marksmen for the Monarchs. Morrison and Bailey had one assist apiece.

Brock Glendenning earned a shutout between the Minden pipes on November 6, when the Monarchs played host to Port Perry. The Monarchs scored three times in the first period and added two in the second on the way to a 5-0 win.

Wray, Raback, Morrison, Hebert and Wilbee were the Minden sharpshooters. Fielding had two assists, with Woods and Bailey picking up one each.

Tyke A Monarchs double 'Caygeon 4-2

by Jerry Grozelle

Practice may not always make perfect, but in the case of the Minden Monarchs tyke A hockey team it is certainly helping. The team is continuing to improve as the season progresses.

A game on November 7 in Bobcaygeon saw the Monarchs come home with a 4-2 victory.

The Keaney brothers, Sean and Aaron led the team to victory in Bobcaygeon, scoring three of the four goals. Sean notched a pair while Aaron and Zachary Joanu netted one each. Cody Mills and Mike Fisher had one assist apiece in the winning effort.

The Monarchs were in Wilberforce the day before but they didn't fare as well against a more experienced team. Wilberforce came out on top in that contest by a 7-1 score.

Nicky Wallace was the lone Minden sharpshooter in that game, with Joanu assisting.

Bobcaygeon provided the opposition for a game in Minden November 13. The next game for the tykes will be this coming Saturday (November 19) when they will play host to Fenelon Falls. Start time is 10 a.m.

by Jerry Grozelle

There's nothing like a last-minute winning goal to keep a hockey game interesting to the end. But the Minden Legion bantam B Monarchs carried the excitement to the limit when they tangled with Ops at the Minden arena on November 5.

Ops opened the scoring with the only goal of the first period. Minden evened the score when Matt Cheeseman notched an unassisted marker just past the mid-point of the second period.

The game remained deadlocked at one apiece as the final few seconds of the clock ticked away. Cheeseman scored his second goal of the game to pull the game out of the fire for Minden. He bulged the twine of the Ops net with one second showing on the clock to give the Monarchs a hard-fought 2-1 win.

The following day, the Monarchs went to Cannington, where the home team's fans weren't treated to as exciting a match. The Monarchs scored early and often, coming away with a 9-1 victory for their efforts.

Kirk Smith got the first goal of the game, just 25 seconds after the opening faceoff. Rod Upton and Cheeseman assisted. Jason Kasepchuk notched the second Minden marker midway through the period, from Curtis Barry and Jason Horsley. At the end of the period, Minden was in front 2-0.

Horsley scored two goals 28 seconds apart less than five minutes into the second frame. Kasepchuk helped set up both goals, with Cory Bull and Gavin Gartshore helping out on one each.

Cannington got on the board with two and a half minutes left in the middle frame and the period ended with the Monarchs in the lead by a 4-1 count.

Minden poured it on in the third, scoring five unanswered goals in a span of eight minutes and three seconds. Smith paced the third-period attack, scoring twice to round out his hat trick and adding a pair of assists. Cheeseman, Gartshore and Kasepchuk added a goal each to the Minden tally. Cheeseman picked up three more assists in the third, Philip Daniels had a pair and singles went to Clay Davis and Horsley.

The Legion bantams were slated to play two games this past weekend. The Monarchs will go to Sunderland for a game Saturday (November 19) and to Oakwood on Monday, November 21. The next home game will be Sunday, November 27 at 6:30 p.m. against Manvers.

League for visually impaired bowlers being organized

CNIB HOLDS ANNUAL CHAMPIONSHIP

New resident of Minden Sandra Kieckhoefer, is trying to get a bowling league for visually impaired people in the area. Kieckhoefer recently moved to Minden from Ottawa, where she participated in a league that was organized by the Canadian National Institute for the Blind (CNIB).

Andrew Milne

A Minden woman is organizing a local bowling league for the blind.

Sandra Kieckhoefer explains that in Ottawa, where she was living until a few months ago, the Canadian National Institute for the Blind (CNIB) organizes bowling for the visually impaired.

Kieckhoefer lost most of her vision (she is legally blind but has some vision) a few years ago, got involved with the CNIB, and then with their bowling league.

There's even a provincial championship. Says Kieckhoefer, "Once a year the CNIB meets somewhere in Ontario and they get all the teams together from the whole province, and you have bowl-offs until you get a champion. It's nice, and you get to meet other people with the same problem."

And how does someone with little or no vision bowl?

"In Ottawa we used railings," says Kieckhoefer. "You just followed the railing, and when you got to the end of the railing, that's where you dropped the ball. For the ones that were totally blind, we had coaches... They'd hand them the ball, and set them in the right spot and tell them you've got one pin left or whatever."

Kieckhoefer herself can see well enough to see the pins, and doesn't use a coach.

Kieckhoefer is advertising her league in the local papers, and is hoping that family and friends will mention it to anyone who might be interested.

"It's not that these people are just sitting around wishing they could do something," she says. "And the opportunity's there. But nobody tells them."

And how well does she bowl?

"I went yesterday with my sister," she says. "And I beat her."

"And she's got two eyes, so what can I say?"

Don't get lost, OPP cautions

Nobody expects to get lost, and yet it happens frequently, especially during hunting season. Within the past few years, personnel of the Kawartha Detachment of the Ontario Provincial Police have been involved in at least four (4) searches for persons lost while hunting.

The cost of such searches is difficult to measure, however, it is very possible that by the time one considers the required resources, the cost could easily be several thousand dollars per day.

An estimation puts the cost of a search at $6,000 - $10,000 per day, not to mention the worry experienced by family and friends.

Common sense and preparation are the keys to an enjoyable and successful journey into the bush.

Tell someone where you are going, your expected route, and anticipated return time. If you are hunting in unfamiliar territory, don't venture into the woods alone.

Wear appropriate clothing and footwear for the terrain and weather conditions you expect to encounter.

Carry a survival kit consisting of matches, or a lighter, in a water proof container; a signalling device such as a flare or a mirror; first aid supplies and a compass.

Water is more important to your survival than food. You can survive for weeks without food, but only a matter of days without water.

If you become lost, located a clearing if possible and stay there. Chances are a land and air search/rescue team has been coordinated and you will be found.

Don't panic...fear could be your worst enemy.

Fishing in sanctuary nets Norland pair $1500 in fines

Two Norland residents were fined a total of $1,500 after being found guilty of fishing in the Gull River Provincial Fish Sanctuary in Coboconk in early May.

Garry N. Bradamore, 46, was fined $800 for fishing in the sanctuary while the season was closed, and an additional $200 for failure to produce a fishing licence upon request of conservation officers. Susan Henderson, 45, was fined $500 for fishing in the sanctuary.

The fines were levied in Lindsay Provincial Court in October.

Charges were laid as a result of a public complaint received by the Ministry of Natural Resources in Lindsay.

TVOntario

Form letters offer less form than letter

by Susan Wilson

It's just over a year now that I've been writing these columns for our two weekly newspapers. And I've always made a point of providing a different story about or angle on our campaign to get Queen's Park to provide us access to the TVOntario signal.

But this time I'm going to make an exception. This time I'm going to repeat myself because the issue here is important enough to make sure everybody hears about it. So if you've already read this elsewhere, please bear with me.

To start with, let's look at TVOntario's recent ratings. If anyone has a shadow of a doubt about the value of TVO's programming, consider this: during the viewing period from August 29 to October 2, TVO achieved the largest percentage increase in viewing hours of any major broadcaster in Canada!

Altogether, viewing hours were up 60 per cent over the same five-week period last year. Audience figures doubled for the late afternoon slot (4:00 to 7:00 p.m.). Weeknight prime-time viewing was up 55.6 per cent over last year. Saturday night prime-time viewing (a.k.a. Elwy Yost and Saturday Night at the Movies) was up 48 per cent.

That says just one thing to me: TVOntario is doing something very, very right, doing the kind of programming that lots and lots of people want to watch.

There are lots and lots of people in Haliburton County who want to watch too. But we can't. Not yet.

I've recently read through copies of the letters that over 55 people in our community have sent to Anne Swarbrick, Minister of Culture, Tourism, and Recreation, requesting that she provide the funds for getting us decent off-air access to the TVOntario signal. They make very moving and inspiring reading. The writers have different reasons for wanting to be able to watch TVO, but they have in common a passionate commitment to the excellence and education that's only possible in public broadcasting.

The response they've been getting from Queen's Park has been less than inspiring. In fact, I wouldn't be surprised if some writers found it downright offensive. It's just a form letter, really, and doesn't even attempt to address any of the points they made so well.

The bottom line, if you will, comes in the middle of the letter. Its author — not the minister, I should add, but an assistant deputy minister — assures the reader that the government is committed to making TVO available to everyone in Ontario. Then she goes on to say, "Unfortunately, financial constraints currently stand in the way of realizing our goal."

Three weeks ago, I wrote to the minister to let her know that this is not an acceptable answer. Our community doesn't just want access to TVO; we need access to TVO. We need access to what 97 per cent of our fellow citizens already have. We need an end to the discrimination and inequity. We will not be written off with an "unfortunately."

PROGRAM HIGHLIGHTS

Twenty years ago, I was one of those who qualified as a Watergate junkie. Every time I passed a television that was showing the hearings, I'd get stuck in front of the set for much longer than I should have and would have to tear myself away to get back to the things I should have been doing.

Well, now there's another chance to figure out what Tricky Dicky and his boys were up to. Watergate begins this Wednesday, November 16, at 9:00 p.m. This five-part series, prepared by the BBC, reveals information that has been hidden since Nixon's resignation on August 9, 1974. Those in the White House who were found guilty of Watergate crimes and those who investigated them tell the full story for the first time.

Susan Wilson represents Haliburton County on TVOntario's Southcentral Regional Council. If you would like to help get access to the TVO signal or have any other comments, call her at 286-6009. This column appears every four weeks. It reports on the progress of the TVO Action Team and highlights upcoming TVO programs.

Volunteer fire fighters using green warning lights

Okay, quick driving test: that flashing green light on the vehicle behind you identifies it as (a) an ambulance enroute to the scene of an emergency, (b) a roads maintenance vehicle enroute to the car wash, or (c) a low flying passenger jet which has mistaken highway 35 for the Lester B. Pearson runway?

Actually, it's (d) volunteer firefighters enroute in their own private vehicle to the scene of an emergency. And they — and in all probability whoever is at that emergency scene — would appreciate it if you could carefully make way for them.

The lights are a fairly new idea. Anson, Hindon and Minden fire chief Bill Hogg says members of his department have been using them for about a year now. About 6 of the 16 members of his department use the green lights, he says.

The idea, explains Dysart chief Miles Maughan, is that since volunteer firefighters at various times respond to emergencies in their own vehicles, there had to be a way of telling them from the concerned public.

Maughan also said that an Ontario law is expected to be passed later this month to make it mandatory that only volunteer fire fighters use the green lights. It will still, however, be a voluntary decision to make way for them, he says. And the fire fighters will still have to obey all the regular rules of the road.

Certain areas of rural Ontario — Haliburton county included — depend quite heavily on volunteer fire fighters.

Maughan, who uses one of the lights himself, says they have already proved useful from time to time.

If you get to an accident and you're the first one on the scene," he says, "they're really good for that. And some people do pull over during the day when they see it."

Folks - there is a need for craft volunteers on Tuesday afternoons to help Dottie Muirhead assist residents to complete projects which they enjoy. If interested, please contact Doris Robertson at Hyland Crest 286-2140. This is very rewarding and fun too for the residents and volunteers alike.

October 22 the residents were pleased to be entertained by Gordon Kidd. He sang those lovely old songs. We thank him for playing his guitar.

October 23, Estella Burch read more of the book she is reading to us. We do appreciate her reading to us. In the evening, Rev. John Burgess brought us the sermon. Louise Leonard played the organ. Thank you John for your message and Louise for your music.

October 24 morning we had fitness. In the afternoon we formed a circle around the table and each person put some kind of candy in the bags as they were passed around. The bags were for trick or treaters who visited Hyland Crest on Hallowe'en.

October 25 the chapel service was taken by Pastor Murray. We thank the pastor immensely for his message. In the afternoon we had a good turnout for crafts. We filled paper cups with candy. They decorated our table at lunch time on Hallowe'en. Some folks were making milkpod angels for Christmas. Others were making pumpkin centrepieces. We had two new volunteers at crafts. They were Nancy Hibrant and Sylvia Thompson along with Donna Wallace and Dottie Muirhead. Tuesday evening we had cards. Thanks for your help Pearl.

Wednesday October 26 the Happy Wanderers from Coboconk area came to entertain us again. They are a choir of senior citizens. After the music, Hyland Crest served tea, coffee and tea bread made by Alice Todd, one of our residents. We thank the choir and Alice for a lovely afternoon of entertainment and refreshments.

Wednesday October 26 was Bill Kennedy's birthday. We had a cake to celebrate the occasion. Happy birthday Bill.

Thursday, October 27 tea party was a combination of our birthday tea party and the usual Thursday tea party. The party was hosted by the Haliburton Catholic ladies. They included Gina Salvatori, Joan Heppleston, Grace Berardi, Gladys Tanguay, Aileen Sebic and Eva O'Hara. Barbara Hembruff played piano and Joan Heppleston and Gladys Tanguay sang. Birthday congratulations went out to Lula Ferrill, Margaret Robinson, Ethel Shaw, Mary Smith, Judy Stevenson, Robina Thomas, Kathleen Wren, Bill Kennedy and Jack Ridgway. Many thanks to the ladies from Haliburton for the lovely tea and the birthday cake.

In the morning of October 28 Diana Williams played the piano and sang and the residents were welcome to join in if they knew the songs. Thank you ever so much for your kindness Diana.

Happy Hour from 2-4 p.m. in the auditorium was well attended with residents' families and friends. We were entertained by Bill Payne and Eldon Deacon, half of the Grandfathers' Four. Thanks once again Bill and Eldon. Volunteers were Dottie Muirhead, Pearl Cowan, Bonnie Fullan and Theresa Clement.

We have two new residents, Vera Bouchard and Sylvia Howard. Welcome to Hyland Crest ladies!

Hopefully, you will hear from me next week.

Be sure to attend the Fund Fantastic Bazaar on December 8 in the auditorium from 3-9 p.m. Pick up your Christmas gifts and benefit the residents' council. There will be hot cider and scones, bake table, white elephant table and crafts.

Saturday, October 29 Jock Mavor came to sing his beautiful songs and played the Omnichord. We appreciate your coming Jock.

Sunday, October 30 Estella Burch read more of the book. We are enjoying it so much. Rev. John Burgess brought us the evening service. Louise Leonard played the organ. Thanks to both of them.

Monday evening was Hallowe'en. Over 200 children in costumes came through the doors of Hyland Crest. The residents handed out the treats to the children, we enjoyed them so much.

Tuesday morning Rev. Parker held communion in the chapel. Thank you Rev. Parker. In the afternoon we had crafts. We are busy making Christmas items. We have been having an excellent turnout. Some gents are even participating. They do sanding and painting. Right now we have several new volunteers. Sadly they go south for the winter so if you have nothing to do on Tuesday afternoons, consider volunteering at crafts. Thanks to the new volunteers. In the evening Peal Cowen assisted the residents with a game of cards. Thanks Pearl.

Wednesday morning we had the usual fitness routine with Doris. At 1:30 some of the residents boarded the bus and went to Mr. D's for a snack. A good time was had by all. In the evening Bill Payne, Eldon Deacon and Don Burch, three of the Grandfathers Four entertained us with music and song. Thanks to these faithful gents.

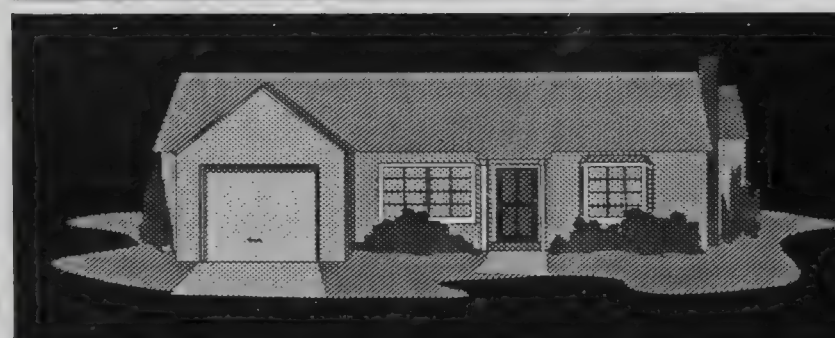

Thursday the Ladies Auxiliary held their Christmas Bazaar in the auditorium. Michele Journeaux of Minden was the lucky winner of the quilt draw and Georgie Parkes won the Raggedy Anne and Andy dolls. Nice going! In the evening Lee Ann Schlosser did the calling for bingo. Thanks Lee Ann.

Friday morning the residents gathered in the tuck shop and folded serviettes for the kitchen. At 2 p.m. we had Happy Hour. The Picards, Bill and Ed entertained us with the accordion, bongos and song. Thanks once again folks. Our volunteers were Don and Ellen Holden back from a trip out west, Pearl Cowen, Bonnie Fullan and Dottie Muirhead.

Welcome to our new residents Henry Howe and Mary Eaton.

We extend our condolences to the family of May Horsley. May slipped away in her sleep November 4 at the age of 88 years.

Hasn't the weather been great for November?

Drug Awareness Week: dealing with people with drug problems

November 11-19 is Drug Awareness Week. The Community Action Group on Alcohol and Drugs (a sub-committee of the Haliburton Social Action Committee) is working hard on all the final details of the week's events. Stay tuned. Meanwhile...

What should you do if you know or suspect someone in your family is abusing alcohol or drugs? Experts say the best thing you can do is talk to them about your concern.

The Addiction Research Foundation in its "Take Action" pamphlet series, points out that while a person with such a problem is usually very reluctant to talk about it, raising the issue is an important first step. At the time you may also need to call on the support of other family members.

According to Michele Bromley, Addiction Counsellor at FourCAST in Minden, there are specific ways to approach the subject. "Don't bring up the subject in the middle of a crisis," she says. "Pick the right moment for a serious discussion and let the person know your caring is the reason you want to talk."

Bromley cautions not to make accusations without knowing the facts. That can lead to denial, even if a problem exists. Be specific in your conversation rather than making general statements and make the person aware of the negative effects their behaviour is having on not only them but everyone else in the family. Then let them know that you are prepared to help change things that may be contributing to their alcohol or drug use.

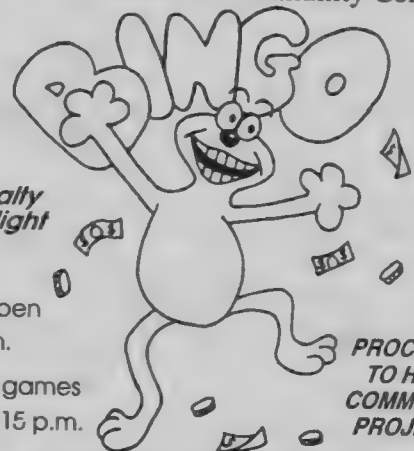

It is also important to learn as much as you can about alcohol and drug use, including what resources are available in your community. In addition, you may find it useful to discuss the situation with a professional or someone else you trust, such as a close friend.

"Don't give up if the person won't accept your concern," Bromley urges. "Try again - maybe using a different approach."

For more information regarding CAG or Drug Awareness Week activities, call Michele Bromley at FourCAST 286-4897.

Police investigating weekend incident, telephone fraud cases

The Ontario Provincial Police is urging safe transportation and storage of firearms during hunting season. With the start of hunting for game in several parts of the province, the OPP reminds hunters of federal requirements to keep rifles and shotguns unloaded except when in actual use.

While a firearm is being transported it must be unloaded and if the vehicle is left unattended the firearm must be locked in the trunk or kept out of view in the locked portion of the vehicle. It is illegal to leave a firearm unattended with an all terrain vehicle or snowmobile.

When a rifle or shotgun is on display at home or at a hunting camp the firearm must be locked and ammunition must not be readily accessible.

A conviction related to unsafe firearm practices could result in imprisonment for up to two years.

Hunters are also reminded to refrain from trespassing on land under cultivation or where trees have been planted, or where the occupier demonstrates intention to keep people out or to keep animals in.

Minden OPP is investigating an incident which resulted in damage to the extent of $4,000 to a 1994 Chrysler New Yorker. The incident occurred on October 30, 1994 at approximately 9:30 p.m. in the parking lot of the Minden arena. The operator of the vehicle had just returned to the vehicle after playing hockey when three youths pelted the car with eggs. The eggs damaged the six week old vehicle's paint to the extent that the entire car must be repainted.

Officers of the Minden OPP have investigated a number of telephone frauds in the past few weeks and would like the public to know that such activity is occurring.

The common con that is taking place is one in which an unsuspecting citizen receives a phone call from a certain agency which claims that the citizen has won a new vehicle and in order to take delivery of the new vehicle, the winner must pay the tax on the vehicle which quickly grows to an amount of several thousand dollars. The money is sent, and the innocent person never receives his/her prize.

It may be hard to understand why anyone would fall for such a con, but remember, these con/fraud artists are professionals and have been taking people throughout Canada and the United States for millions of dollars.

If you, or someone you know receives a suspicious call, report it to the police and do not send anyone any money.

Reevaluating "The Bell Curve"

The explosive impact of modern technology has torn apart the social fabric of extended families, stable neighbourhoods and small communities that once gave a sense of place, cohesion and stability. Modern life is accompanied by familiar problems of violence, bigotry, poverty, alienation and environmental degradation. But too often we deal with symptoms rather than getting at the underlying roots of today's problems.

Take environmental problems. Once pollution has reached crisis levels, cleaning it up is often difficult or impossible. But we have no way to mandate prevention of the production or release of pollutants in the first place. Megaprojects like dams, fixed links and oil developments fail to address long-term social and ecological impacts and are driven instead by short-term economic or political goals.

Social issues like crime, poverty and health are approached by tackling symptoms rather than underlying causes. Consider tuberculosis. Most of us have been exposed to the TB bacterium at some time but never get the disease (I test TB-positive). Most people who develop TB live on reservation or in slums and/or have AIDS. Discrimination and poverty are the real causes of TB but it seems far easier to focus on the bacterium.

This is the context in which to consider the rejuvenated debate on the relative roles of heredity and the environment in determining IQ scores in different races. It has been fuelled by the publication of The Bell Curve by social scientist Charles Murray and psychologist Richard Herrnstein and by Race, Evolution and Behaviour by Canada's own psychologist Philippe Rushton. The books claim heredity is the major cause of the differences in average IQ test scores of black and white people.

It's a familiar rationale to justify eliminating programs for the disadvantaged — just blame the victims for having poor genes. More than 20 years ago, a president of the Canadian Medical Association recommended sterilization of welfare recipients before they receive welfare cheques. In the '80s, a Toronto School Board member opined that the poor academic performance of children from poor ethnic communities was more a matter of genetics than education.

Lay people and scientists alike often fall into the trap of mistaking a correlation for causation. For example, there is a high correlation between nicotine-stained teeth and fingers and lung cancer, but that does not mean that stained fingers and teeth cause the disease. Yet correlations between an ethnic group and crime, poverty, or drug abuse are often claimed as causally based.

Reflections

by David Suzuki

mean that stained fingers and teeth cause the disease. Yet correlations between an ethnic group and crime, poverty, or drug abuse are often claimed as causally based.

Whatever IQ tests measure, heredity does influence the score achieved. And no one disputes the 15-point difference in average IQ scores between black and white populations. The question is what causes that difference? Rushton, Murray and Herrnstein are not geneticists. To geneticists, classifications based on skin colour give us groupings that are biologically meaningless. Besides, so long as society imposes such totally different social conditions and pressures on the basis of skin colour, the cause basis for differences in IQ scores of blacks and whites can never be answered scientifically. Even when a trait is genetically determined, its expression can be modified environmentally. Thus, genes which cause defects in response to high temperatures or bright sunlight need not be expressed if the triggering conditions are avoided. And for a trait as complex as intelligence, there is lots of room to manipulate environmental conditions that affect it. Intelligence itself is an elusive entity. We claim it as a characteristic of our species, yet what intelligent creature, knowing air, water, soil and biodiversity keep us alive, would behave as destructively as we do? Furthermore, there is no indication that levels of intelligence correlate with other important human traits of honesty, kindness, compassion, integrity or generosity.

In any city, there are tens of thousand who have IQ scores above 120 or below 80. But what does that inform us about those people whose shared quality is a test score? They are just as liable to be stupid, greedy, ambitions, clever, bad and good as people in any other group.

The wonderful complexity and diversity of people cannot be encompassed by a single number or word. We are not ciphers. We do not deal with people as groups but as individuals with their own qualities and needs. Why waste time debating a question that can't be answered when there are things we can do? Discrimination and economic inequities underlie much of human poverty and misery and we can do something about changing the conditions if we stop trying to find excuses not to try.

You see, the way we deal with the disadvantaged defines who and what we are.

Housing: Now is a good time to buy

Prospective home and cottage buyers in most parts of Canada have an extraordinary opportunity this fall, according to the results of a new study commissioned by the Canadian Home Builders' Association.

The new study, produced by housing analysts Clayton Research Associates, says that there is currently a rare combination of bargain prices and affordable interest rates in most housing and cottage markets. Clayton Research also maintains that house and cottage prices are likely to rise soon, as builders are forced to pass on increased cost of many building products.

"If you're in the market for a new home or cottage, there simply won't be a better time to build for the foreseeable future than this fall," says Gary Burtch, President of the Haliburton County Home Builders' Association. During the recession, competition forced builders to cut profit margins to the bone, resulting in exceptionally good values for consumers. "Now, as the Clayton Research study indicates, with costs rising and the economy recovering, price increases in many markets are as certain as fall follows summers," said Burtch.

Although the Clayton Research study is based on national trends, housing and cottage markets are primarily regional resulting in some variations.

"As the market picks up," Burtch says, "some builders are really worried about shortages of materials for new construction, and that usually translates into higher costs for home and cottage purchasers."

As interest rates rose earlier this year, consumers hesitated to build in the hope that rates might return to those earlier values. According to Burtch, "The Clayton Research study puts to rest any exceptions that interest rates will drop significantly in the near future so now is excellent time to have a home or cottage built." In addition, there is an unprecedented range of mortgage options available to suit every borrower's requirements.

According to the Clayton Research, the long-term outlook remains positive for home-ownership. Based on an assumption of two per cent inflation, the study concludes that home owners gain a significantly higher net worth than renters over time, even if housing prices do not rise in lockstep with the rate of inflation.

For further information, contact Gary Burtch, President of Haliburton County Home Builders' Association, Hot Line (705) 286-5025, or Greg Lampert, Clayton Research, (416) 699-5645.

OPP investigating break-ins

In the ten weeks since the first of September, 1994, Minden OPP have investigated in excess of 125 break-ins of cottages. Many involve large amounts of household furnishings, including food, while others concentrate on sporting goods and items like snow vehicles, ATVs or tools. Any liquor at the cottage is almost always taken.

Most of these break-ins involve forcing doors and cutting locks off storage sheds. Many have occurred in the day time during the week.

Coboconk OPP have experienced a similar rash of occurrences.

SNOW REMOVAL

The Highway Traffic Act RSO 1990, Section 170 (12), states "...no person shall park or stand a vehicle on a highway in such a manner as to interfere with the movement of traffic or the clearing of snow from the highway". A constable or County By-Law officer may have the vehicle removed from the roadway and stored at the owner's expense.

Section 181 states "No person shall deposit snow or ice on a roadway without permission in writing to do so from the Ministry or the road authority responsible for maintenance of the road. The penalty on conviction is a fine of not more than $90.00.

The cooperation of all motorists in these matters would be appreciated for efficient winter maintenance of County Roads and the safety of others.

Staff Sgt. D. Edlington, Larry Kent,
Minden O.P.P. General Superintendent

LANDLORDS AND TENANTS

Landlords can increase the maximum rent by the guideline every year. For 1994 the guideline is 3.2% and for 1995 the guideline is 2.9%. To increase the maximum rent by more than the guideline, a landlord must apply to the Ministry of Housing.

A landlord can make an application to increase the rent by more than the guideline for the following reasons:

1. Large increases in the costs for heat, hydro, water or property taxes.
2. Major repairs to the building. For example, repairing the roof.
3. Improvements to a tenant's unit beyond regular maintenance with the tenant's consent. For example agreeing to replace the bathroom fixtures.

A tenant must be given a proper written notice of rent increase at least 90 days before a landlord can collect the higher rent.

For more information on increases above the guideline, call or write:

BIRTHS

My name is Shelbie Johnson-Perrin I had fun playing at the Peterborough Civic Maternity Ward until 3:08 p.m. Tuesday, November 1 when my new baby sister screamed into the world at 8lbs 3 oz. My mom Kim and dad Shaun have "double trouble" now. Sometimes we can terrorize our grandparents - Darlene and Dave Johnson, Barb and Rob Perrin or great-grandparents Shirley & Art Haynes, Ruby & Elvin Johnson, Ev & Jim Perrin and Laura & Bob Carnegie. Dr. Tina Stephenson, Dr. Maskens and the nurses were real nice to my mom and sister (and to me too!)

HAILLY EVELYN RUBY

SMITH, Rudy and Margaret (Leet) of Minden, Ontario, are ecstatic to announce the birth of their son born Friday, October 28, 1994 and weighing 3015 grams (6 lbs 10 oz). Adrian's arrival included ambulance, helicopter and taxi rides with stops at the Haliburton Hospital; Peterborough Civic Hospital; Toronto's Hospital for Sick Children and the Oakville-Trafalgar Memorial Hospital. His grateful parents extend profound thanks to the many individuals involved in making his arrival a success. Adrian wishes to thank all his relatives and friends for their prayers and support.

CARDS OF THANKS

Heartfelt thanks to everyone who helped to make the "Evening of Fashion" fundraiser for Breast Cancer Research such a success.

I thank County Commercial Printers, Ron Chillman Printing, Country Rose, Campbell's Flowers and Mike Easton for their generosity, the merchants of Minden and Haliburton who donated door prizes: Suzie Q Fashions, the Storeroom, Magic Touch, Silver Eagle Resort, The Hairstylist, Haliburton Wild Life, Minden IDA Drug Store, Master's Book Store, Perfect Prints Minden, Kitchen & Bath Shop Minden, Highlands Fruit Market, Jasco Pharmacy, Village Court Pharmacy. I am especially grateful to the models who made all this happen and to the dressers who put us all together and to Sylvia Holland and Sharon Poldas for their expert assistance. I thank my husband Mike for all his encouragement and support, my children Patrick and Chloe for understanding my need to do this (for Nana's cancer) and to Chloe again for being such a trouper and showing us all "how the show must go on". To my mother Rosamond, one of those 5,200 women who died of breast cancer last year, I love you and miss you. This was your evening.

Linda Coneybeare.

IN MEMORIAM

RANSON: David - In loving memory of our dear husband, father and son who passed away November 20, 1993.

We think of you today with love,

As we have always done,
We feel again the sudden blow
That we never know would come.

Each morning when we awake
And know that you have gone.
No one knows the heartache
As we try to carry on.

Our hearts still ache in sadness
And silent tears still flow
What it meant to lose you
No one will ever know.

Deeply missed by Marilyn, Lisa, Raymond & Nellie.
